A guide for couples: closeness, comfort and confidence

For adults 18+ only. Personal use only.

Welcome

This guide is for consenting adults aged 18 and over. It is written to help couples explore closeness, communication and comfort together, one position at a time.

Every body is different. What feels wonderful for one couple may not suit another, and that is completely fine. Treat these pages as a menu, not a checklist: pick what appeals to you, skip what doesn't, and change anything that doesn't feel right.

Each position has a short how-to, a practical tip and three ratings, so you can choose by mood: relaxed, close, playful or energetic.

The most important ingredient is not in any position. It is the two of you, talking openly, going at your own pace and enjoying each other.

A note on health

This guide is general education and is not medical advice. If you have pain, health concerns or questions about contraception, please speak to a doctor.

The Golden Rules

1. Consent is everything
   An enthusiastic yes from both of you, every time. Either of you can pause or stop at any moment, without needing to explain.

2. Talk before, during and after
   Say what you like and ask how it feels. Silence is not a yes.

3. Comfort comes first
   Pain is a signal to stop or adjust. Use pillows, change the angle and take breaks.

4. Protect each other
   Condoms help protect against sexually transmitted infections. Talk about contraception together, and ask a doctor or clinic for personal advice.

5. Go slow and keep it clean
   Warm up with kisses and touch. Use lubricant if you need it (water-based is safe with condoms). Wash up afterwards.

6. Stay safe
   Avoid alcohol and drugs, check that furniture is stable, and never try anything that feels risky.

How to Use This Guide

Every position comes with three ratings from one to five dots.

Comfort ●●●○○
How easy and relaxing the position is to hold. More dots mean less effort.

Intimacy ●●●○○
How close you are, and how much eye contact and connection there is.

Energy ●●●○○
How much effort the position takes. One dot is calm, five is a workout.

Choose by mood

- Want closeness? Try Face to Face, Side by Side or the Heart Lock.
- Want to stay relaxed? Side by Side positions and the Pillow Lift take the effort out.
- Want to share control? The Rider chapter lets whoever is on top set the pace.
- Feeling adventurous? Standing, furniture and the spicy chapter add variety.
- Short on energy? Look for one or two dots under Energy.

Tips for a Great Night 64

Our Favorites checklist 65

01

Face to Face

Eye contact, kisses and closeness. Face-to-face positions are the heart of connection, perfect when you want to feel every moment together.

14 POSITIONS

1 Classic Missionary

Close, connected and unhurried.

One partner lies on their back with knees softly bent. The other lies on top, supporting their weight on forearms and knees. Your faces are close, so kissing and eye contact come naturally.

TIP Take your time settling in. Small changes in angle can change everything.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

2 The Pillow Lift

A small change with a big difference.

Lie on your back with a firm pillow or two tucked under your hips. Your partner kneels between your legs or leans in from above. The lifted angle feels different and can reduce strain on the lower back.

TIP Use a firm cushion. A soft pillow flattens quickly.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

3 Legs on Shoulders

More reach, more intensity.

From the classic position, the partner underneath lifts their legs and rests them on their partner's shoulders or upper arms, knees softly bent. The partner on top stays upright or leans forward slowly.

TIP Raise the legs only as high as feels comfortable. Flexibility is different for everyone.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

4 The Closed Book

Snug, simple and surprisingly different.

The partner underneath lies flat with legs straight and together. The partner on top lies over them with their own legs on the outside. The closer fit changes the sensation for both of you.

TIP Go slowly at first, and keep lubricant close if you need it.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

5 The Wrapped Embrace

Hold each other close.

The partner underneath wraps their legs around their partner's waist or hips and pulls them in. Arms wrap around shoulders, and you move together in a gentle, rocking rhythm.

TIP Squeeze with your thighs to guide the pace without saying a word.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●●○○

6 Chest to Chest

Almost no space between you.

Stay pressed together from chest to hips and let small rocking movements do the work. There is very little weight on your arms, so you can relax and focus on each other.

TIP Slow your breathing to match your partner's.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

7 The Rocking Align

Rock together instead of pushing.

The partner on top shifts a little higher up the other's body so that your bodies press together at a different angle. Instead of moving in and out, you rock together in a steady rhythm.

TIP Keep movements small and rhythmic. Patience pays off.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

8 The Hip Hold

Kneel, lift, connect.

The partner on top kneels and gently draws their partner's hips up onto their thighs. The partner underneath rests their shoulders on the bed with their arms relaxed by their sides.

TIP Place a pillow under the shoulders if the neck feels strained.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

9 The Diagonal

Turn the angle.

Start in the classic position, then the partner on top turns their body slightly to one side while the partner underneath lifts one leg. The tilt gives a fresh angle with hardly any effort.

TIP Switch sides halfway so both of you stay comfortable.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

10 The Wrist Hold

Playful, gentle and always consensual.

The partner on top softly holds their partner's wrists near the pillow, only for as long as you both enjoy it. Eye contact and slow kisses build the mood.

TIP Agree on a word or signal to stop, and keep your grip light.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

11 The Slow Wave

Rhythm like the sea.

Move in long, slow waves instead of quick movements. Pause at the top, then slowly return. Hold each other, keep your eyes open and let the tension build beautifully.

TIP Try counting four slow beats in and four slow beats out.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

12 The Knee Hug

Hug your own knees.

The partner underneath draws their knees toward their chest and holds them with their hands. The partner on top leans in carefully and supports themselves on their forearms.

TIP Don't pull too hard. Stop if your hips or back feel tight.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

13 The Open Knee

Relaxed and wide open.

The partner underneath lets their knees fall gently outwards, with feet flat or soles together. It's a relaxed stretch that is easy to hold for a long time.

TIP Soles together is a lovely hip stretch. Warm up with a few gentle stretches first.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

14 The Anchor

A steady base to move from.

The partner underneath plants their feet on the bed, or against their partner's thighs, and uses them as an anchor. They can lift their hips gently to meet each movement.

TIP Push through your heels, not your lower back.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

02

The Rider

Whoever is on top sets the pace, the angle and the mood. These positions share control, which makes them great for communication and comfort.

14 POSITIONS

15

The Rider

Sit tall, set the pace.

The partner underneath lies on their back. The other straddles their hips, facing them, with knees on the bed and hands resting on their chest. The partner on top controls the speed, depth and angle.

TIP Lean slightly forward or back to find the angle that feels best.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

16

The Reverse Rider

A new view and a new angle.

The partner on top sits astride their partner facing their feet, with hands on the bed or on their partner's legs for balance. It gives a completely different angle and sensation.

TIP Go slowly at first. The angle is different and needs a little adjusting.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●○○○ Energy ●●●○○

17

The Lean-In

Close, warm and in control.

From the Rider position, the partner on top leans forward until their chest rests near their partner's, forearms on each side of the head. Kisses and whispers are close, and movements become small and gentle.

TIP A pillow under the head makes kissing more comfortable.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

18

The Lean-Back

Open and confident.

The partner on top leans back and rests their hands behind them on their partner's thighs. The partner underneath keeps their knees bent to give a backrest.

TIP Keep your elbows soft to protect your wrists.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

19

The Hover

Control through a squat.

The partner on top squats above their partner with feet flat and hands on their chest or shoulders for balance. It gives complete control of depth and speed.

TIP Squatting tires the thighs quickly. Alternate with the Rider to rest.

Comfort ●●○○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●●●

20

The Slow Grinder

Circles, not bounces.

Instead of moving up and down, the partner on top grinds in slow circles or gentle back-and-forth movements. It is easy on the knees and great for building sensation gradually.

TIP Try drawing a slow figure-eight with your hips.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

21 The Full-Length Rider

Lie on top, skin to skin.

The partner on top lies along their partner's body, chest to chest, legs on the outside. Slight hip movements and long kisses make this a calm, close position.

TIP Great for when you're tired but still want to be close.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

22 The Hand-Held Rider

Balance together.

Partners hold hands or clasp forearms, and the partner on top leans back slightly, using the grip as a counterweight. The link between your arms helps you balance for longer.

TIP Lock forearms rather than just fingers for a steadier hold.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

23 The Backrest

Knees up for support.

The partner underneath bends their knees and keeps their feet flat. The partner on top leans back against those thighs as a backrest and sets a relaxed, unhurried pace.

TIP Put a pillow between the knees and your back if the thighs feel hard.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●○○○

24 The Reverse Lean

Reverse, but relaxed.

From the Reverse Rider, the partner on top leans forward and rests their forearms on the bed between their partner's legs. Their partner can sit up a little to stroke their back.

TIP Use a pillow under your forearms for comfort.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

25 The Half-Kneel

One foot up, one knee down.

The partner on top keeps one foot flat on the bed and the other knee down, so the hips tilt to one side. It is a quick way to change the angle and rest one leg at a time.

TIP Switch legs regularly to avoid tiring one side.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

26 The Pillow Throne

Raise the throne.

The partner underneath places a firm pillow under their hips to lift them. The partner on top sits astride and enjoys a slightly different angle, with less strain on their knees.

TIP A folded blanket works well if you don't have a firm pillow.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

27 The Tease Ride

Fast, slow, pause.

The partner on top alternates between fast and slow movements, with pauses for kisses and eye contact. Playing with the pace builds anticipation for both of you.

TIP Try ten slow movements, five faster ones, then a long pause.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

28 The Lie-Back

Back to chest, face to the ceiling.

The partner on top lies back against their partner's chest, both facing up, with legs on the outside. The partner underneath can hold them close and caress their shoulders and arms.

TIP Great for hugging and whispering. Keep movements tiny.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

03

Side by Side

Lazy, gentle and wonderfully relaxed. Side positions take the pressure off arms and knees, so they are ideal for long evenings and slow mornings.

12 POSITIONS

29 Classic Spooning

Curl up together.

Both partners lie on their sides facing the same direction, one curled behind the other like two spoons. The partner behind wraps an arm around the front partner and keeps their body close.

TIP Bend your knees slightly and tuck a pillow between them for comfort.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

30 The Mirror Side

Face to face on your sides.

Lie on your sides facing each other, with legs slightly interlaced. You can kiss, hold eye contact and hug all at once. Movements are small and effortless.

TIP Share one pillow so your faces stay close.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

31 The Slow Spoon

A lazy-morning favorite.

From Classic Spooning, move slowly with long, unhurried movements. Hands explore shoulders, arms and neck. There is no rush at all.

TIP Whisper something you love about your partner.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

32 The Leg Hook

Hook and hold.

In spooning, the partner behind hooks their upper leg over their partner's hip, drawing them closer. It creates a closer fit and keeps you securely connected.

TIP Keep the hooked leg relaxed and don't pull too hard.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

33 The Side Scissors

Interlaced legs.

Lying face to face on your sides, interlace your legs like a pair of scissors. The angle feels different and keeps you close enough to kiss.

TIP Move your hips in small circles instead of back and forth.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

34 The Half-Spoon

A little lift for a new angle.

In spooning, the partner behind gently lifts the front partner's upper leg with their hand or forearm. The raised leg opens a fresh angle.

TIP Support the leg from underneath so it doesn't tire.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

35 The Cradle

Held and held close.

The partner behind wraps both arms around their partner like a cradle, with their legs tucked in. Hold tight and rock slowly together.

TIP Slow your breathing and match your partner's.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

36 The Cuddle Curl

Knees tucked in.

Both partners draw their knees up in a tight curl, and the partner behind snuggles into the curve. It is tender and cozy.

TIP A pillow under the top knee relieves pressure on the hips.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

37 The Free Hand

One hand free to explore.

Spooning with a slight tilt of the top partner's shoulders, so their free hand can caress and stroke. Stay close and move slowly.

TIP Use your hand to show what you like, not just to touch.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

38 The Lazy Lean

Barely moving at all.

The front partner leans slightly forward onto their stomach, while the partner behind stays on their side. The leaning angle changes things gently with hardly any effort.

TIP Use a pillow under your chest for comfort.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●○○○○

39 The Lifted Leg

Lift and lean.

Lying on one side, the front partner lifts their top leg and rests it over their partner's hip or on a pillow. This opens the hips comfortably.

TIP A rolled-up towel or cushion can hold the leg in place.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●○○○

40 The Pillow Talk

Heads together on one pillow.

Lie face to face on your sides, sharing one pillow, and keep movements small and slow. It is less about movement and more about talking, laughing and staying close.

TIP Take breaks to kiss and chat. There is no hurry.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

04

From Behind

Different angles, plenty of control and free hands. These positions are about trust, comfort and finding what feels good for both of you.

14 POSITIONS

41 Rear Comfort

The classic on hands and knees.

One partner kneels on hands and knees, with knees slightly apart. The other kneels behind them. Hands rest gently on hips or waist, and talking to each other is easy.

TIP Lower onto your forearms if your wrists get tired.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

42 The Sphinx

Propped up on forearms.

The partner in front lies on their stomach, propped on their forearms like a sphinx, with a pillow under their hips. The other partner lies or kneels behind them. It is restful and low effort.

TIP A cushion under your hips helps your lower back relax.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●○○○

43 The Child's Pose

Stretch and surrender.

Inspired by the yoga pose, the front partner kneels and folds forward with arms stretched ahead and forehead resting on the bed. The other kneels behind. It stretches the back and is very relaxing.

TIP Breathe out slowly to relax further into the stretch.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●○○○

44 The Pillow Prop

Raise the angle.

The front partner kneels with a firm pillow under their stomach or hips for support. The change in height and angle often makes the position more comfortable.

TIP Try different heights until you find what feels best.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●○○○

45 The Cat Stretch

Arch and release.

The front partner arches and rounds their back slowly like a cat, while the other partner keeps a gentle pace. Each movement changes the angle slightly.

TIP Move with your breath: arch as you inhale, round as you exhale.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

46 The Narrow Knees

Knees close together.

The front partner keeps their knees together while the other partner kneels with their legs on the outside. The closer fit changes sensations and is easy to hold.

TIP Add lubricant if it feels tight, and go slowly.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

47 The Wide Stance

Knees wide apart.

The front partner kneels with knees wide apart, supported on forearms, while the other kneels behind them. The wide base feels stable and relaxed.

TIP Never open wider than is comfortable.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

48 The Half-Kneel Rear

One foot, one knee.

The partner behind keeps one foot flat on the bed and the other knee down, which gives a steadier, lower position. The front partner stays on hands and knees.

TIP Change legs every few minutes to stay comfortable.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

49 The Rocking Horse

Rock back and forth.

The front partner gently rocks back toward their partner while the partner behind stays still. This puts the front partner fully in control of the depth and rhythm.

TIP Start slowly and let your partner follow your rhythm.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

50 The Steady Hands

Hands on hips.

In Rear Comfort, the partner behind rests their hands on their partner's hips to guide the rhythm. Warm, firm hands show care, and the front partner can nudge to change the pace.

TIP Check in: ask whether to go slower, faster or stay the same.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

51 The Kneeling Embrace

Upright and wrapped up.

Both partners kneel upright, with the partner behind wrapping their arms around the front partner's waist or chest. The front partner leans back onto their partner's chest.

TIP Kiss your partner's neck and shoulders for extra closeness.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●●○○

52 The Flatline

Lie flat.

The front partner lies flat on their stomach with legs together or slightly apart, while the other lies on top from behind, supported on their forearms. It is relaxed and low effort.

TIP Keep your weight on your forearms and elbows.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

53 The Raised Hips

Lift and support.

The front partner lies on their stomach while the partner behind gently lifts their hips with their hands or a pillow to change the angle slightly.

TIP A firm pillow works better than hands over a longer time.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

54 The Rear-to-Spoon Glide

Smooth transitions.

Start in Rear Comfort, then slowly lower together onto your sides into a spooning position without breaking contact. The smooth change lets you rest and stay close.

TIP Move slowly and use your hands to guide the turn.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

05

Seated & Kneeling

Close enough to share a breath. Seated positions keep your faces together and let you move slowly while your arms stay wrapped around each other.

14 POSITIONS

55 Lotus Embrace

Wrapped around each other.

One partner sits cross-legged, and the other sits on their lap facing them, wrapping their legs around their waist. Arms hold each other close, with foreheads together.

TIP Sit on a cushion to lift your hips and keep your back straight.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

56 The Kneeling Mirror

Kneel face to face.

Both partners kneel facing each other, close together, with arms around each other's shoulders or waists. Kisses and eye contact flow naturally.

TIP Place a pillow under your knees.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●●○○

57 The Chair Lap

Sit down together.

One partner sits on a sturdy chair without arms, and the other sits on their lap facing them. You can hold each other's shoulders and move gently.

TIP Choose a chair that doesn't wobble or slide on the floor.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

58 The Reverse Chair Lap

Facing away.

One partner sits on a sturdy chair and the other sits on their lap facing away, leaning back against their chest. The seated partner's hands are free to hold and caress.

TIP Lean back and relax into your partner's arms.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

59 The Edge Sit

On the edge of the bed.

One partner sits on the edge of the bed with feet on the floor. The other sits on their lap facing them. The firm base lets you control the movement.

TIP Make sure the bed is firm and won't slide on the floor.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

60 The Cross-Legged Lock

Sit and stay.

Both sit cross-legged facing each other, with the partner on top wrapping their legs behind. It is close, still and very connected.

TIP Switch the cross of your legs halfway to avoid getting stiff.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

61 The Rock-Back

Lean back together.

While seated, both partners lean back slightly, holding each other's hands or forearms for balance. The tension in your arms lets you rock back and forth smoothly.

TIP Keep your grip firm and your arms straight.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

62 The Heart Lock

Breathe together.

Inspired by tantric practice, sit close together with foreheads touching, breathing slowly in sync. There is very little movement. The focus is on connection and awareness.

TIP Try inhaling together for four counts and exhaling for four.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

63 The Sofa Slide

Sofa time.

One partner sits back on the sofa while the other straddles their lap, with knees on the cushions. The sofa's back and arms provide support.

TIP Use a throw pillow behind your lower back.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

64 The Headboard Lean

Back against the bed head.

One partner sits against the headboard with pillows behind their back. The other sits on their lap, facing them. The support makes it an easy, relaxed position.

TIP Add pillows until your back feels fully supported.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

65 The Knee Lift Seat

Knees as a backrest.

The seated partner draws their knees up, forming a backrest for the partner on their lap. The raised knees give the partner on their lap something to lean on.

TIP Place a cushion between knees and back.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

66 The Side Saddle

Sit sideways.

The partner on the lap turns slightly sideways with their legs over one side of their partner's lap, resting an arm around their neck. The tilt creates a gentle new angle.

TIP Switch sides after a few minutes.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

67 The Cushion Nest

Floor and cushions.

Make a soft nest of cushions on the floor and sit together in it, facing each other. The soft surface makes seated positions comfortable for longer.

TIP Dim the lights and add some quiet music.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

68 The Slow Sway

Sway like a slow dance.

Seated and wrapped in each other's arms, move in a gentle swaying motion, as if dancing to slow music. Stay close and let the rhythm build naturally.

TIP Put on a slow song and move to the beat.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

06

Standing & Supported

Spontaneous and exciting. Keep one thing in mind: stay steady. Use a non-slip floor, lean on something solid, and never lift a partner unless you both feel completely safe.

10 POSITIONS

69 Standing Embrace

Stand close and hold on.

Both partners stand facing each other with arms around each other. One partner lifts a foot onto a low stool or step to adjust for height and angle. Kiss and sway gently.

TIP Choose a stool that won't tip.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●●○○

70 The Wall Lean

Back against the wall.

One partner leans their back against a wall for support while the other stands facing them. The wall takes weight off your legs and keeps you steady.

TIP Stand a short step away from the wall so your back stays comfortable.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

71 The Stair Step

A foot up.

One partner places a foot on the second step of a staircase or a sturdy stool, which tilts the hips and makes it easier to move closer together.

TIP Hold the banister or a wall for balance.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

72 The Counter Lean

Lean on something sturdy.

One partner leans forward with their hands or forearms on a sturdy counter or table while the other stands behind them. The support frees up arms and legs.

TIP Check the surface is stable and at a comfortable height.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

73 The Warm Rain

Steamy and slow.

Standing under warm water, one partner leans against the shower wall while the other stands close. Warm water adds a relaxing, sensual mood.

TIP Use a non-slip mat and keep movements slow. Water can wash lubricant away.

Comfort ●●○○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

74 The Standing Spoon

Hugged from behind.

Both partners stand with one behind the other, the partner behind wrapping their arms around their partner's waist or chest. Lean into each other and sway slowly.

TIP Kiss shoulders and neck, and keep movements gentle.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●○○○

75 The Doorframe Lean

Hands on the doorway.

One partner reaches up and holds a sturdy door frame while the other stands behind or in front. The grip gives balance and support.

TIP Only use a solid, undamaged doorframe.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

76 The Tiptoe Tango

For different heights.

Standing face to face, the shorter partner rises onto tiptoes while the taller partner bends their knees slightly. Together you find an angle that works for both of you.

TIP Standing on a thick book or a low step can solve height differences.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

77 The Dancer's Lift

A leg around the thigh.

Standing face to face, one partner wraps a leg around their partner's thigh or hip while holding onto their shoulders. Their partner supports the raised leg with an arm.

TIP Choose the leg that's more comfortable and switch sides.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

78 The Mirror Stand

See yourselves together.

Stand or lean in front of a mirror, either facing it or standing side by side. Seeing each other adds a new layer of excitement and connection.

TIP Keep the lights low and the mirror secure.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

07

Bed Edge & Furniture

The room is full of surprises. A bed edge, sofa or sturdy bench can change heights and angles in simple ways. Just check that everything is stable first.

10 POSITIONS

79 Edge of the Bed

The perfect height.

The partner on their back lies with their hips at the edge of the bed and feet resting on their partner's hips or on the floor. The partner standing or kneeling at the edge controls the angle.

TIP Place a pillow under the lower back for support.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

80 The Butterfly

Wings up.

The partner on the bed edge lifts their legs, resting them against their partner's chest or shoulders while their partner stands. The raised legs create a different angle, like butterfly wings.

TIP Keep knees softly bent and lift only as high as is comfortable.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

81 The Kneeling Edge

From behind at the edge.

One partner kneels on the floor or the bed with their upper body resting on the bed. The other stands or kneels behind them. The bed's height does the work.

TIP Place a pillow under your knees.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

82 The Sturdy Ledge

A table at the right height.

One partner sits or leans on the edge of a sturdy table, while the other stands in front. The right height may be all that makes a standing position easy.

TIP Test the table first: it must not wobble. Pad it with a folded blanket.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

83 The Chair Back Lean

Lean forward.

One partner leans forward with their hands on the back of a solid chair while the other stands behind them. The chair gives support and balance.

TIP Brace the chair against a wall so that it doesn't slide.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

84 The Ottoman Lift

A little extra height.

One partner lies back on an ottoman or low, sturdy bench with hips at the edge. The other kneels or stands close. It is an easy height adjustment.

TIP Add a cushion for the head and shoulders.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●○○

85 The Sofa Arm Drape

Drape over the sofa arm.

One partner leans forward and drapes over the arm of the sofa, supported by cushions, while the other stands or kneels behind. It is cozy and supported.

TIP Use a cushion to protect your stomach and hips.

86 The Wedge

Use a wedge pillow.

A firm wedge-shaped pillow tilts the hips and lower back, making many positions feel better and reducing strain on joints.

TIP A firm wedge pillow is a good investment in comfort.

87 The Yoga Mat Flow

Move on the floor.

On a yoga mat or soft rug, move slowly between positions such as kneeling, sitting and lying, without leaving the floor. It is a good way to try several positions in one go.

TIP Keep a blanket close to stay warm.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

88 The Bench

Sit on a sturdy bench.

One partner sits astride a sturdy, wide bench or the foot of the bed, facing along it, while the other sits in front or behind. The firm support leaves your hands free.

TIP A cushion on the bench makes it much more comfortable.

More Spicy Positions

Turn up the heat, gently. These twists add playfulness, anticipation and a little mystery to positions you already know. Agree on what you both want first, and keep a signal handy to pause or stop.

12 POSITIONS

89 The Blindfold Rider

Take away sight, add anticipation.

The partner underneath wears a soft blindfold, agreed on in advance, while the other rides slowly on top. Without sight, every touch and sound feels stronger.

TIP Agree on a word or signal that removes the blindfold at once.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

90 The Slow Burn

Patience is the secret.

In spooning, move as slowly as you can, then slower still. Build anticipation with kisses, breaths and whispers. Pause just before you want to, then start again.

TIP Challenge each other to keep it slow for ten full minutes.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

91 The Mirror Show

Watch and be watched.

Kneel or stand beside a mirror so that you can both see yourselves. Watching each other's expressions and movements adds a new thrill.

TIP Warm lighting is more flattering than bright light.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

92 The Ice & Warmth

Hot and cold, gently.

Before moving into Classic Missionary, trail an ice cube along your partner's shoulders, then follow it with warm breath. The contrast makes the skin more sensitive.

TIP Keep the ice moving and never hold it in one place.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

93 The Dance Floor

Start with a slow dance.

Begin standing, swaying together to music, kissing and undressing slowly. Then move to the bed in a Standing Embrace or Chest to Chest position.

TIP Choose a slow playlist you both like ahead of time.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●●●○○

94 The Silk Scarf

Soft, light and consensual.

A soft scarf is draped loosely around your partner's wrists, loose enough to slip off at any time. It adds a playful sense of surrender while you move through a favorite position.

TIP Never tie knots. Hold it loosely and agree on a stop word.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●○○○

95 The Whisper

Say what you want.

Lying face to face, whisper what you like, what you want next and what feels good. Honest words close to the ear are surprisingly powerful.

TIP Start with simple compliments if you feel shy.

Comfort ●●●●● Intimacy ●●●●● Energy ●○○○○

96 The Role Swap

Lead, then follow.

Take turns leading: one partner decides everything for five minutes, then you swap. It is a playful way to find out what each of you likes.

TIP Use a timer on your phone so neither of you has to watch the clock.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

97 The Midnight Switch

Roll into a new position.

Start in Classic Missionary, then roll together so that your partner ends up on top in the Rider position. Hold each other and take your time rolling.

TIP Practise the roll slowly and with a laugh. It takes a little coordination.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

98 The Wild Rider

Confident and full of energy.

The partner on top rides with energy and confidence, while the partner underneath holds their hips or hands and encourages them. It is fun, playful and passionate.

TIP Take breaks to catch your breath and cool down.

Comfort ●●●○○ Intimacy ●●●○○ Energy ●●●●●

99 The Finale Lift

End the night with a flourish.

Place a firm pillow under the hips of the partner on their back and finish in your favorite position from the night. A familiar position feels wonderful at the end.

TIP Save your favorite for last. You've earned it.

Comfort ●●●●○ Intimacy ●●●●○ Energy ●●●○○

100 The Afterglow Spoon

The best part is afterwards.

Finish by curling up together in Classic Spooning. Share water, a blanket and a few quiet words. Closeness afterwards matters as much as everything before it.

TIP Check in on how you both feel, and tell each other what you loved.

Tips for a Great Night

Set the mood
Dim lights, soft music, phones away and a warm room. Small things make a big difference.

Warm up first
Kissing, massage and slow touch are not a warm-up to the main event. They are the main event.

Keep water close
Stay hydrated, and keep a blanket nearby for when you want to rest and cuddle.

Laugh together
Positions don't always work the first time. A laugh and a change of angle is part of the fun.

Try one new thing
You don't need to try everything. Pick one new position a night and talk about what you liked.

Don't skip aftercare
Cuddle, talk and check in. How you end the night shapes how you feel about the next one.
